

St. Robert Fire Department Recruitment Information

If it wasn't for volunteers, three fourths of the United States would be without adequate fire protection, including the community we live in.

Few jobs offer the challenges and rewards that a volunteer fire, rescue, and emergency service offers. However, this business is not for everyone. You need courage, dedication, and a willingness to learn new skills. Plus, you will need the ability to be able to conquer new and diverse challenges.

As a volunteer, you must meet certain requirements to be accepted into Fire and Rescue service. Then, you will be trained to react with confidence to a vast variety of emergency situations; including childbirths, hazardous waste spills, and, of course, fires. The work is not all that glamorous either. It can be a hot, sweaty, strenuous, and dirty job, often working in hazardous conditions. But then the rewards are incredible, that is if you consider respect and appreciation reward enough. Saving a neighbor's home from burning to the ground, or saving a child from injury or possible death, or acting with courage in the face of danger, are the volunteer's rewards of personal satisfaction.

So, if you have the strong desire to help your community and you believe that you have what it takes to meet the challenges, then stop by the St. Robert fire and Rescue to talk with us. We are located at 115 Plattner Ave, St. Robert, MO 65584.

For more information please contact our recruitment officer, Chief Michael Shempert at 573-541-2000 ext. 3100.